About Us

The African Development Network (ADN) is a registered Non-Profit Organisation (NPO) that actively promotes sustainable organisational development through training programmes. The organisation also serves as network that links existing organisations and provides access to information, curriculum, research, publications and best practice case studies related to sustainable development. The organisation assists donors by monitoring funded programmes.

The ADN is registered with the National Department of Social Development, in terms of the Non-Profit Organisations Act 71 of 1997, as Non-Profit Organisation with registration number NPO number 217-527. The organisation has also applied to register as a Public Benefit Organisation (PBO) in terms of section 30 of the Income Tax Act, with the consequence that all receipts and accruals made in South Africa, are exempt from income tax.

Mission Statement:

To empower community-based organisations through skills development training and encouraging partnerships that will promote sustainable solutions.

Vision:

The ADN is dedicated to the upliftment and development of community-based organisations and operates within the geographical area of the Western Cape in South Africa. The ADN offers support, mentorship and capacity building programmes to empower communities to run effective and sustainable initiatives.

Aims:

The aims of the ADN are:

1. To support existing NPO and Community-based organisations;
2. To provide education and training programmes;
3. To link organisational networks;
4. To create and register new NPO structures;
5. To assist donors through monitoring and oversight to funded programmes
